HARRY ROTENBERG RESIGNS FROM THE PRESIDENCY OF FEDERATION

Rabbi Ferdinand M. Isserman

After four years of service, Harry Rotenberg has resigned from the presidency of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies of Toronto. Mr. Rotenberg came to that office with little communal experience. Despite the fact that his support was not always of the best, Mr. Rotenberg has left a record of constructive achievement. Four years ago Federation's annual budget was about $65,000. In the last campaign conducted under his leadership, $135,000 was raised. Four years ago, Federation constituent organizations were hampered because their allowances were delayed for months and months. That condition has been remedied. Four years ago, the morale of defeat and despair prevailed at the Federation office. To-day the spirit of optimism and hope prevails. New organizations have been included in the Federation's program. Old organizations have received better support. Scheuer House was recently opened, and the medical clinic will soon function there. Mr. Rotenberg entered the office a young man, inexperienced in communal leadership. He leaves it a tried community leader recognized and respected by Jew and non-Jew.

A young man of vigor and vision is needed to fill the presidency of Federation. In Chicago, with that city's numerous Jewish leaders, a young man of 36 was recently elected to the presidency of the Jewish charities. Young men have courage, energy and vision. Such a man is what Toronto's Federation needs to succeed Harry Rotenberg.

Harry Rotenberg has earned the appreciation of his community for his fine service. Not only has he the satisfaction of knowing that his efforts are appreciated, but he has the immeasurably greater compensation of knowing that he has helped struggling men, woman and children and thus has been true to the finest traditions of Israel, while at the same time contributing to the welfare of Canada.

A REFERENDUM FOR WAR

There is much blather about the next war. All the nations who fought to crush militarism are preparing for it. Old statesmen and legislators who are above fighting age are planning it. We hope that all nations will pass laws making the declaration of war impossible without a popular referendum. We hope that in such referendum only those who will be called to fight, that is, those of fighting age, physically fit, with no dependants and no desk jobs which would keep them from the trenches, be permitted to vote. We hope that all others who continue to vote in favor of war, immediately on war being declared, disregarding their qualifications, or lack of them, be put in the army and in the front line trenches. We hope also that every newspaper editor and every minister who endorses the war, either through editorial or public pronouncements be put on the firing line to win it, not with printing presses and machine guns but with loss of life and limb. A few measures like that, and war would be speedily eliminated. Alanson B. Houghton, United States ambassador to Great Britain, championed a war referendum law in the United States. Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen did in Canada, and now a New York City congressman has proposed a measure in congress which would make a popular referendum essential preliminary to a declaration of war.

THE "SEVENTH DOMINION"

A conference is shortly to be held in England of leading Englishmen who favor the idea of changing the status of Palestine into one of an out and out British dominion. Col. Josiah Wedgwood who recently brought this plan to the fore in his book "The Seventh Dominion" is active in the arrangements for the conference and will officiate as its chairman.

At present Palestine is a ward of the League of Nations, and England is supposed to be a trustee doing chores on behalf of the League, and answerable to the League.

At the time when peace was being arranged under the influence of Wilson, there was a hope that the League of Nations might emerge from the negotiations as a real, concrete factor in international affairs. The supervision of Palestine with a view to the development therein of a Jewish national homeland was one definite task entrusted to it to afford it occupation, and a sense of reality.

It is needless to point out that the League of Nations is now nothing but a pious fiction. In the sphere of "Realpolitik" it has no influence whatever. It holds periodic sessions, but these are only occasions for the exchange of formal amenities and a play of diplomatic gestures.

Palestine is a stark reality. England's role in Palestine is a tremendously important one, fraught with [illegible] Jewish exertions in and on behalf of Palestine are a major effort, perhaps bearing the import of a life and death struggle [illegible] Jewish nation. Now these factors are [illegible] of a miscarried deal. [illegible] enmeshed in the [illegible] League.

England [illegible] of a friendly [illegible] Palestine [illegible] Jewish people [illegible] Palestine [illegible]

Marriages

Hershcovitz-Wiseman

The marriage of Jeanne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Wiseman, to Hyman Hershcovitz, son of Mrs. P. Hershcovitz and the late Mr. Hershcovitz, was solemnized, Sunday, February 17, at B'Nai Jacob Synagogue, with Rabbi Berger officiating. The bride was given away by her father. She wore an ivory georgette and lace dress in bouffant style trimmed with orange blossoms, and a Queen Elizabeth collar. Her veil of net was held in cap effect with clusters of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, and lilies of the valley. Mrs. M. Wiseman, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron-of-honor, wearing a brown lace dress, with shoes and hat to match, and a corsage of American Beauties. Miss Sylvia Chawkin, niece of the bride, maid-of-honor was in a nile green georgette dress, with matching shoes and hat and carried Columbia roses. Moe Wiseman and Myer Chawkin were best men. The bridesmaids were Misses Mary Ross, in flesh color taffeta with irregular hem line; Bea Gold, white tulle, with rose color taffeta bow; Bessie Toplitsky, orchid taffeta and tulle; and Libbie Macalnick, green georgette and lace. Their shoes matched and their bouquets were of Columbia roses. Celia Caplan, train-bearer, wore a nile green georgette frock. Mrs. B. Wiseman, mother of the groom, was gowned in brown georgette and lace trimmed with a rhinestone buckle, shoes and hat to match. Mrs. P. Hershcovitz, mother of the groom, wore black lace over sand taffeta. Their corsages were of American Beauties. Mrs. K. Chawkin sister of the bride, was in a blue lace gown. A reception was held for 300 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Hershcovitz are spending their honeymoon in Ottawa.

Kaminsky-Levitt

The marriage of Miss Rose Levitt, eldest daughter of Henry Levitt, to Mortimer A. Kaminsky, of New York, son of Mrs. I. Kaminsky, of Montreal, was solemnized, Tuesday, February 12, at the home of the bride's cousin, Mrs. I. Lessel, 27 Chesterfield Avenue. Rabbi Abramowitz officiated. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her dress was of biscuit colored chiffon and hat and shoes matched. Her corsage was of orchids and lilies of the valley. Miss Gladys Levitt, sister of the bride, her only attendant, wore a wine-colored georgette gown with hat to match and carried an arm bouquet of American Beauties. Harry Laurla was best man. Mrs. Kaminsky, mother of the groom, wore a gown of black lace with rhinestone trimmings and a shoulder bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley; Mrs. L. Aronson, grandmother of the bride, black lace with a corsage of roses and lilies of the valley. A dinner was served for the immediate family followed by a reception. Decorations were carried out in mauve and yellow spring flowers with white streamers. Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Kaminsky will spend their honeymoon in New York and Atlantic City and will live in Peekskill, N.Y. Going away the bride wore a beige georgette gown with hat to match and a muskrat coat. The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl necklace and to the maid of honor an evening bag.

Bell-Kalin

The marriage of Miss Gussie Kalin, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. M. Kalin, to Samuel Bell, son of B. Bell, and the late Mrs. Bell, was solemnized, Sunday, February 17, at the Bellevue Hotel. The bride was given away by her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. S. Weingarten, of New York. Over her dress of white satin dress trimmed with Chantilly lace, her veil of net and lace was arranged in cap effect with clusters of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The maid-of-honor, Miss Gertrude Lemish, wore a peach taffeta dress with hat to match, and carried Columbia roses. Phillip Bell, brother of the groom, was best man. The bridesmaids were Misses Tillie Englestein, gold lace dress; Esther Mendelsohn, in pale green georgette; Shirley Karel, blue taffeta, and Ruth Bell, mauve georgette. Their flowers were Premier roses. The groomsmen were Morris Williams, Morris Kal-

INCINERATION

Incineration — the destruction of garbage — must be carried out in the interests of health and sanitation. The one and only strictly Canadian organization engaged in this industry is the Decarie Boiler & Incinerator Co. of Montreal.

In the work of this company provision is made for all incineration requirements as they manufacture a model for every purpose, operated by coal, gas or oil burning, and a type which requires no fuel other than the garbage itself.

A few of the different types are listed below with a brief description of each:

Incinerator for pathological institutions for the destruction of material from the dissecting rooms. Usually gas or oil fired.

Incinerator for destruction of garbage such as accumulates in hotels, hospitals, etc. The heat generated is generally used to heat water or raise steam. No commercial required.

Incinerator for hospitals, asylums, etc., for the destruction of infected matter. Gas fired.

Water heating incinerator for the destruction of household waste, in which the heat generated is used to heat water for domestic purposes. Either coal or gas fired.

The chimney incinerator for apartments, etc. This incinerator is built in the base of the flue, with a hopper door set in the flue on each floor above. The refuse is put through this door, falls down the flue into the incinerator and is consumed. This incinerator requires no fuel and eliminates the objectionable garbage can in the apartments.

The company also constructs incinerator plants for municipalities. A Decarie Installation is being used by the City of Outremont, Que. This plant is three stories high and consumes 50 tons of refuse per day, using no fuel and requiring the labor of only one man. The capacity of these plants is unlimited.

The Company also manufactures a non-explosive water tube boiler made for either coal, gas or oil burning and ranging in size from 1 to 35 H.P. The largest gas-fired boiler in Canada is a Decarie.

H. R. Cassidy, electrical contractor, 159 Grand Blvd., will do all electrical installations for McKitchie and Black, who are erecting a fine structure on St. Catherine, near Bishop.

The New Ideal Laundry, 129 St. Peter Street, has established a modern up-to-date laundry equipment that handles, with satisfaction and efficiency, all sorts of laundry work. The regular linens that are used daily in every home, the finer and more elaborate guest articles, the daintiest of lingerie (silk, chiffon and georgette, lace trimmed) are laundered so carefully, that they return to their owners looking even prettier than when new. After fifteen years in the laundry business, Mr. Hughes, of the New Ideal Laundry, can offer exceptionally fine service at most reasonable prices. Services include all finished hand work at list prices. Ho-Mestic, all finished on press at 15 cents per pound; finished on double press, 12 cents, with men's negligee shirts, eight cents each; and semi-finished, flat work ironed, at 10 cents.

The experienced house-keeper will be satisfied that our service is the best; the new bride will be delighted and re-assured with the way her fine linens are returned to her. Blankets washed by the New Ideal Laundry retain their fluffiness, curtains are stretched so that they will hang right. Phone Marquette 7252 for a call.

Sorrow and Struggle

As a minister of Religion, I come in contact daily with those who battle to maintain life. Often these cry out against the prevalence of struggle and sorrow in the universe. And in truth, sorrow does abound everywhere! Escape there is for none. The greatest often suffers the keenest pangs. Crapes flutter at the portals of all hearts. And while the question of suffering is as old as the human race—it has never been answered satisfactorily. Job struggled with this perplexing problem. Socrates tried to answer it, and failed. Ledbnitz tried it and begged the whole question. However, a world without sorrow and struggle is inconceivable. There are compensations in sorrow. Without struggle and effort, there could be no progress. One of Israel's sages conveys this truth when he relates the story that once upon a time Satan, the Prince of Evil died. For a time there was nothing to stir the mind of man; all activity ceased; man vegetated. There was danger of man's turning into a dumb brute. God therefore restored Satan. With the reappearance of the Prince of Evil, came a return of good and progress. And along with progress—sorrow also produces "humanity." He is selfish and heartless who never experienced the shedding of tears during the silent night watches. The community of tears makes for the finest brotherhood and sympathies. A softening of the heart does take place after we have been disciplined by failure and defeat. And pain knows no creed. Pain recognizes no denomination. Suffering makes the whole world kin. Pain breaks down all artificial barriers, and unites us all. To the suffering and struggling I repeat Browning's admonition:

"Then welcome each rebuff,
That turns earth's smoothness rough
Each sting that bids nor sit nor stand but go!
Be our joys three parts pain!
Strive and hold cheap the strain;
Learn, nor account the pang; dare, never grudge the throe.

She "Stole" a Prayerbook

A non-Jewish lady came to me and confessed that some time ago, she actually "stole" a Union Prayerbook from the Temple. Here is her story. "I am a searcher for Religious truth. I therefore attend many and various places of worship. I came to the Sabbath Eve service at the Temple. I listened to the ritual and was deeply impressed by it. Especially was I inspired by that soul stirring prayer known as the Adoration: 'May the time not be distant, O God, when Thy name shall be worshipped in all the earth, when unbelief shall disappear, and error be no more. May the day come when corruption and evil shall give way to purity and goodness, when superstition shall no longer enslave the mind, nor idolatry blind the eye . . . may all, created in Thine image, recognize that they are brethren!' Such thoughts and words are sublime. I often read this prayer to many Christians. I wonder whether all Jews appreciate what a remarkable prayerbook they posses!"

What a message to us Jews by a non-Jew!

I rejoice that non-Jews are beginning to appreciate Judaism. I trust Jews in turn will have greater regard for Jewish prayers and Prayerbooks.

"The Young Israel"

I am happy to learn that "The Young Israel Organization," comprising strict Orthodox Jewish Youths, is extending its activities in the north section of Montreal. I have the greatest of admiration for young men and women who are making sacrifices to maintain Orthodox Judaism in totality. The task is a difficult one in the present age. However, where there is sincerity and honesty of purpose, much, very much may be accomplished. I do hope the Orthodox elders will therefore give a helping hand to thee "Young Israel." And by the way, the question does arise—"What is Orthodoxy doing for its youth in Montreal?" Perhaps it is busily engaged in finding fault with Reform and therefore no time to devote to the vexing problems facing Orthodox Jewish Youth.

It Came to Pass That——

—By Dr. Cecil Roth, of London, England, fellow of the Royal Historical Society.

FEBRUARY 22ND.

Birth of Johann von Reuchlin, 1455. This was an event of crucial importance in general as well as Jewish history. The child grew up into a scholar of world-wide reputation, and was introduced to the study of Hebrew on the occasion of a visit to Pico della Mirandola in Florence in 1486. Accordingly, when in 1509 the apostate Johann Pfefferkorn began his attack upon Hebrew literature (August 19), the Jews found in Reuchlin a doughty champion. For nearly twelve years, in which all the greatest scholars of Germany were implicated, the Battle of Books raged about the Talmud, the importance of which was at last vindicated and recognized by the Christian world. This encounter is generally recognised as the first episode in the Reformation.

FEBRUARY 23RD.

Close of Jewish Congress at Budapest, 1869. This had been summoned by Francis Joseph to discuss the organisation of the Hungarian communities as a natural consequence of the emancipation granted on December 2nd., 1867, and had been in session since December 14th., 1868. It had aroused the highest hopes for the future of Hungarian Jewry, but these were doomed to failure. Many of the provincial communities petitioned the Power House to suspend the new regulations, on the ground that they were in opposition to the ancient traditions of Judaism. Ultimately, their protests were accepted, and the orthodox congregations of the kingdom were empowered to draft their own constitution. The more extreme and the Hassidic communities stood aloof from both sections. Thus the Congress, instead of succeeding in organising Hungarian Jewry, resulted in a fourfold schism in its ranks.

FEBRUARY 24TH.

Persecution in Würzburg, 1147. The second crusade witnessed massacres in France and Germany hardly surpassed even at the time of the first, save by the efforts of the humane Bernard of Clairvaux. On the Rhineland especially, the frenzied preaching of a certain monk named Radulf frequently overcame his influence. In Würzburg, the Jews had been living in perfect security, confiding in the excellent relations which existed between their fellow-townsmen and in the friendliness of the Bishop. A mob of itinerant crusaders, however, assaulted them: and more than twenty of the community met martyrs' deaths. Of these Rabbi Isaac ben Eliakim and his son Elijah were engaged in the study of the Law, and especially remembered. Others saved their lives by the benevolence of a compatriot and townsman who sent the survivors into a neighboring town for refuge, and allowed a resting-place in his own garden for the wounded Jews there.

FEBRUARY 25TH.

Alenu prohibited in Castile, 1335. This noblest of Jewish prayers has frequently been the cause of misunderstanding, owing to the personal application by Christians of certain phrases directed against the idolaters among whom the Jews were living at the time of its composition. The objection first made in Germany, was renewed in the fourteenth century by the Spanish convert Alfonso of Valladolid (known before conversion as Joshua of Burgos). Alfonso XI of Castile summoned the community of his capital to hear extracts of the prayer in a public disputation. He would not, however, accept their perfectly correct and valid defence, to the effect that the Christians were not in any way envisaged: and on January 25th, 1335, he issued an edict forbidding the communities of his kingdom from continuing to use the condemned prayer. In many old manuscripts and printed books, a few phrases of the Alenu have been deleted by the Censor: and in the Ashkenazic ritual they have been officially omitted.

Jewish Emancipation in Maryland, 1825. This colony, founded in 1642 by the Catholic Lord Baltimore as a haven of religious freedom, became more reactionary than any of its neighbours on its reduction to Rhoda Tenenhouse, three years old, 213 Harvard Avenue, spent the summer at Ste. Agathe. Nearby lived a little girl Rhoda played with. Coming back one day, her mother asked her whether she had a good time, "Well," she said, "there were'nt any boys there."

a Crown colony and the official establishment of the Protestant church in 1692. As late as 1723 an Act was passed declaring the denial of the divinity of Jesus or of the Trinity to be punishable ultimately by death. The Constitution of 1776 was more liberal: but non-Christians remained excluded from all public office. From 1797 onwards a struggle for emancipation took place. The important position which the Jews had come to occupy in Baltimore and their courageous service in the defence of the city during the War of 1812 greatly strengthened the movement, which received the support of some influential public men. At last, by an Act of the Legislature of February 26th., 1826, 'for the relief of the Jews in Maryland,' they became at last eligible to public office after subscribing to a special declaration of their belief in future reward and punishment. Thus, after a period of just over half a century, the full emancipation of the Jews, which had first made its appearance in the United States of America, became fully established in the land of its birth.

FEBRUARY 27TH.

Expulsion from Vienna, 1670. Leopold I's marriage in 1666, to Margaretta Teresa, a Spanish princess, had brought his natural fanaticism to a head: and the riots of 1668 showed that he had the full sympathy of the populace. In addition it was rumoured that the Jews were in treasonable correspondence with the Swedes. It was accordingly decided that all should be expelled from Vienna and from Lower and Upper Austria. A sumptuous gift to the Emperor and Empress was graciously accepted, but did not influence their decision. The order, which was issued on February 27th., 1670, was solemnly proclaimed on March 1st. The intercession of some of the wealthier and more influential members of the community could only procure a slight delay in the execution of the sentence: and by August 1st. not a single professing Jew was left in the capital (those living in the provinces were allowed to remain until the following spring). The new synagogue, recently completed, was turned into a church under the name of the Leopoldskirche, and solemnly consecrated in the Emperor's presence. This, Die Letzte Vertreibung der Juden aus Wien, was as ineffectual as its forerunners had been; and the foundation of the modern community dates from a point only five years later.

FEBRUARY 28TH.

First Auto in the New World, 1574. Wherever the rule of Spain penetrated—in no small measure owing to the enterprise and energy of her Jewish subjects—the Inquisition was not long in following. In Mexico, the Holy Office had been installed on November 4th., 1571. Two and a half years later, an auto de fe was held—the first to take place in the New World. A fortnight in advance it was announced through all the city with drums and trumpets. The population poured in from all the surrounding countryside, occupying every post of vantage from which the spectacle could be witnessed. Competent observers declared that the solemnities were equal in all respects, save for the presence of royalty, to the classical spectacle at Valladolid of May 21st, 1559. The victims numbered seventy-four in all, including (besides a number of the English sailors captured with Sir Henry Hawkins, who suffered for Lutheranism) several Judaisers. This was the forerunner of many similar barbarous spectacles in Mexico, Peru, New Granada, and the Philippines.

Not long ago news of a Toronto women's meeting in the interest of world peace was sent to the REVIEW along with a letter which stated that as yet no Jewish organizations had been heard from. The meeting took place last month and it is unknown to this column whether the Jews were as handsomely represented as the Catholics or as the Protestants but any peace league might be reminded that the Jewish stand against war and for peace need occasion no worry among the peace-leaguers even if a Jew never attends a peace meeting. In time of peace the Jew stands for peace among the nations. He may be disputatious and verbally truculent but he is not generally belligerent. In time of war the Jew is against war no matter what fierce god receives lip service from him. His contempt for physical force is notorious. Surely the peace-leaguers remember how loudly the war-advocates called the Jew a malingerer!

Dr. G. Gregory Kayne, of Manchester, England, writing in the British Medical Journal, says in part: "In my experience the Jewish hospital patient is the most difficult and trying of patients. His lack of control, his over-anxiety, his readiness to fly for half a dozen opinions at the same time and his occasional insolence are often a source of exasperation to his medical attendant." The proper slant for a columnist to take on this hard-hearted expression would be to deny it heatedly and say it is groundless or at least grossly exaggerated. And perhaps even point out the persistent way anti-Semitism has of rearing its well-known ugly head. But maybe this is only the harmless opinion of a doctor who has never been a hospital patient himself. For when a person is a patient what merit is there in being docile and well-behaved? It is bad enough to be a patient in the first place without being easy-going. Besides, nurses have their own high-handed ways against which little has been done in the way of reform. They are often czaristic and firm to the point of meanness and sometimes are not even civil. A spell in a hospital is the only vacation some people get in a life-time. When this is the case it is a waste of time to be on one's good behaviour. Some of the Jewish patients who groan when they feel like groaning and worry about their condition and crave multiplicity of counsel and talk back are having the time of their lives. They can add to the gayety of the world merely by demanding a hot water bottle when the nurse has been instructed to apply ice bags. This is a novel situation for the so-called trying Jewish patient and, unless doctors and nurses spin yarns, he knows how to make hay while the sun shines.

A certain organization in Toronto reports that it is going to foster parent education among families known to charity. Well, why not? The organization certainly has the upper hand. Families known to charity become accustomed to paying without cash for what they get. They are used to a lot of education necessary from the viewpoint of the social worker and highly gratuitous in the opinion of the recipients. The recipients of uplift are expected to be grateful, delighted and responsive. Perhaps they should be. Certainly there is nothing wrong on the face of it with educating people in parenthood. Parent education is in its feeble beginnings and some day may help to solve some of the problems humans face.

But why start with the families known to charity? This presupposes that the well-intentioned people who have undertaken the lofty work are quite up on parent education themselves. At least they should be prepared for derisive if subdued snorts on the part of the poor who are not always as grateful as uplifters anticipate they should be. The pride of the poor is often offended by people who are as well-meaning as any in the world. These well-meaning people believe that they are doing a service. But do they set their own houses in order before they begin on the families known to charity? Is their program concerned with uplift and reform or self-reform and upstruggle as well? The leaders in the present program must be members of the comfortable middle class. Education in parenthood helps parents to achieve the companionship and understanding of their children. But it is a mark of this age that comfortable parents and children lack each other's companionship and understanding. They who well-to-do also need parent education badly. So why favor the poor, anyway? For pity's sake give some attention to the families known to prosperity.

Social Life in 1907— Do You Remember?—

Born, in Montreal, to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cowan, St. Louis Square, a son; to Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Glickman, 50 St. Louis Square, a son. The wedding took place at Empire Hall of Miss Ethel Roth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hyam Roth, to Saul Lecker, of Quebec. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a princess gown of Duchess satin-trimmed with renaissance lace with a tulle veil trimmed with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. M. B. Gross was best man and the matron of honor was Mrs. B. Gross. Bridesmaids were Misses Sarah Roth and Annie Goodman. Dinner was served to 300 guests. The couple left for the eastern townships to return to live in Quebec. In Hamilton, Ont., Mrs. A. S. Levy gave an at home. She was assisted by her sister, Miss Herzog, of Germany, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. H. Levy. Miss E. Harris was matron of honor. The tea was presided over by Mesdames F. Glassco, McClermont and Waddie and the Misses Levy, Anna Laidlaw and Meta Geston. The mantle in the drawing room was draped with long sprays of asparagus fern and bouquets of violets and white roses. The mantle in the tea room was draped with smilax. The table held a large bouquet of white tulips and large bunches of lilies of the valley. The table held no cloth but lace doilies were used. The walls were hung with canary silk fibre, the carpets and hangings were green and the decorations harmonized. The hostess wore a pearl grey silk gown, hand-embroidered, with a point lace collar and vest and diamond ornaments. Mrs. J. Levy, of Toronto, was the guest of Mrs. A. S. Levy. H. Mendels was in town. "Where luxury is economy"

The luxury of dumping your "family wash" problem on this laundry is really the greatest economy, because we can save you time, worry, labor and expense—and can do a much better job than any home laundry equipment can hope to turn out. We make these very positive statements in the certain knowledge that a trial will prove them to your satisfaction as it is doing every week in most modern Toronto homes. We use soft water and pure soap and do each washing separately. Phone today and experience for yourself the

MR. ZEMACH MISS GRIBER

Press comment on Mr. Zemach and Miss Griber of the renowned Hebrew Troupe "Habimah" who will appear in Toronto Tuesday, February 26th at the Standard Theatre in a program of Dance, song and Drama in Hebrew and Yiddish:

Mr. Zemach presented an evening of peculiar emotion which was well worth the trip down to second Avenue. Mr. Zemach is a towering left in the troop by the Habimah Players. His art of dancing is emotionally dramatic . . . its beauty of line and rapid gliding of motion are a continual delight." N. Y. World, Sept. 23, 1928.

Miss Griber possesses an many beautiful and efficient features, no words seem so much lacking there . . .

an appearance on the stage as that of Chajele Griber means very seldom and one is more thankful and mine an opportunity of seeing and hearing her." Dr. Abraham Warnsky Journal.

NORTHERN ONTARIO CANADA

Northern Ontario, now open for settlement at fifty cents per acre, contains millions of acres of the finest agricultural land in the world. Its resources in lumber, minerals, water, power, fish, game and scenery are immense. The land calls for men to cultivate it, and in return will give health, comfort and prosperity.

What settlers say of the soil, climate, farming, and forest life, is told in a most attractive booklet issued under the direction of the Honourable John S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario. Full instructions in regards to acquiring a title to these rich agricultural lands are also given.

For free copies write: G. A. ELLIOTT, Director of Colonization, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, Ontario.

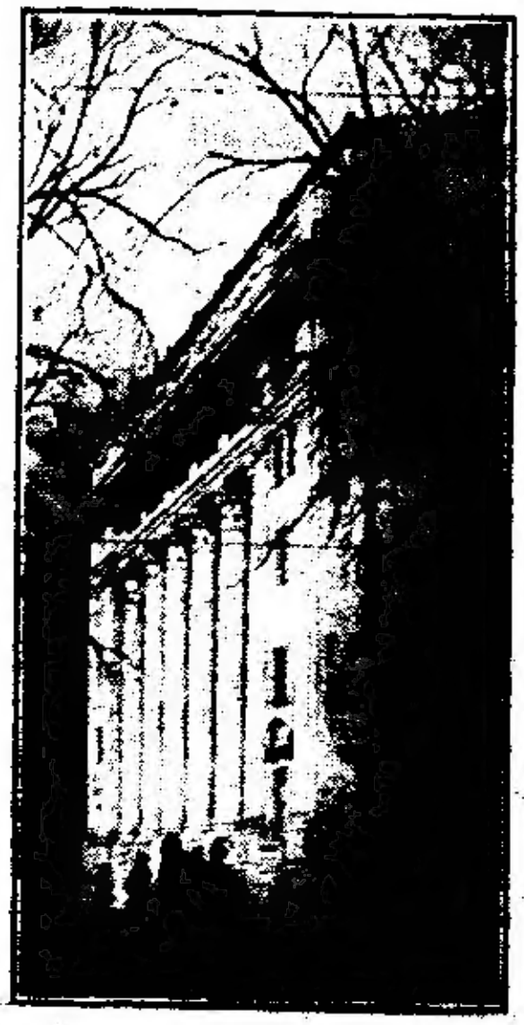
DIVIDENDS TO POLICYHOLDERS INCREASED FOR NINTH SUCCESSIVE YEAR

The Company has also inaugurated the practice of paying a special maturity dividend on participating policies, ten or more years in force, terminating by death or maturity.



EXTRACTS FROM DIRECTORS' REPORT

. . . After deducting amounts re-assured, the total assurances in force now amount to $1,896,915,934.57, an increase of $409,925,254.48. Policies in force number 633,240, and in addition 136,293 certificates of assurance are held by employees of corporations and firms under the group plan. . .

While every field of operation contributed its full share to these impressive advances, the rapid development of our business in Great Britain and the United States is especially noteworthy. The generous reception of our Company in countries served by powerful domestic institutions is particularly gratifying, as testifying to widespread appreciation of our record and services.

. . . The amount paid to policyholders since organization, together with the amount at present held for their security or benefit, exceeds the total amount received from them in premiums by $111,370,229.10.

The strength and resources of the Company have been still further enhanced.

The net rate of interest earned on the mean invested assets, after making provision for investment expenses, has risen to 6.58 per cent. Dividend increases, bonuses and stock privileges, accruing on many of the Company's holdings, contributed substantially to this gratifying result.

A net profit of $11,028,854.59 has been realized from the redemption or sale of securities which had risen to high premiums.

The securities listed in the assets have been valued at figures substantially below the values placed on them by the Government. This under-valuation of our securities represents an important safeguard against possible adverse market fluctuations, additional to the reserves specifically provided against that contingency.

We are again able to report that on the bonds and preferred stocks listed in the assets, not one dollar, due either as interest or as dividend, is in arrear for a single day; while the dividends accruing to common stocks exceed by several million dollars those payable on the same stocks at the time of purchase.

The surplus earned during the year, based on the values given in the accounts, amounted to $40,264,068.52.

$10,000,000. has been deducted from the already heavily marked-down value of securities, as additional provision against possible fluctuations, increasing the amount so set aside to $20,000,000.

The special amount set aside as a liability to provide for unforeseen contingencies has been maintained at $12,500,000.

$15,822,339.65 has been paid or allotted as profits to policyholders during the year.

After making all deductions and allocations, $9,157,966.34 has been added to the undivided surplus, bringing the total over liabilities, contingency accounts, and capital stock, to $54,438,962.46.

The continued prosperity of the Company enables your Directors to announce, for the ninth successive year, a substantial increase in the scale of profits to be distributed to participating policyholders during the ensuing year.

In addition, your Directors have inaugurated the principle of granting a Special Dividend on participating policies maturing after having been in force ten years or longer. This new bonus will enable policyholders or beneficiaries whose withdrawal is occasioned by the maturity of policy contracts, to participate in the accumulated surplus which it has not as yet been considered prudent to divide.

The effort to provide life assurance at the lowest net cost obtainable has been increasingly appreciated. Our policyholders will be gratified by this further evidence of our desire that the Company's prosperity shall be fully shared by its members.
